Kirkland Wins Yale Law Women and Working Mother/Flex-Time Lawyers Awards
Kirkland received two significant awards for its family- and women-friendly policies.

Yale Law Women named Kirkland to its 2015 Top 10 Family Friendly Firms list. The list examines family-friendliness indicators such as part- and flex-time options, caregiver leave policies and childcare availability, as well as indicators of gender equality. Kirkland was selected for category honors in Family Leave: Highest Number of Weeks Offered for Both Primary and Secondary Caregiver Leave; Family Leave: Equal Access to Parental Leave, Regardless of Gender or Primary/Secondary Caregiver Status; and Family Leave: Highest Percentage of Men Partners and Associates Taking Caregiver Leave. Kirkland was also named to the list in 2008, 2010, 2011 and 2014.

The list honors U.S. law firms for their excellence in creating flexibility and professional development programs designed to retain women and advance them into the leadership pipeline. Letter from the Co-chairs of the Diversity Committee

In the wake of the recent tragedy at Emanuel African Methodist Episcopal Church in Charleston, South Carolina, the nation has renewed its commitment to civil rights, diversity, awareness and acceptance.

Consistent with its commitment to offering impactful programming and policies that focus on advancing diversity and inclusion within the Firm, the legal profession and our communities, Kirkland recently hosted a variety of events across all offices. These events provided a platform for discussing timely topics, developing goals, and, importantly, building relationships among our staff and attorneys who share a wide array of backgrounds:

- Affinity Group outings and celebrations
- Kirkland Connection Series events
- Diversity barbeques
- WLI panels, networking events and videoconferences
- Diverse law student networking receptions
- Firmwide DLS Path to Success videoconferences
- Lavender Law programming

Kirkland also celebrated a significant victory for the LGBT community this summer. In June, the Supreme Court handed down a historic ruling that legalized same-sex marriage nationwide. This momentous decision was built on the foundation of many notable marriage equality victories, including victories in Illinois and Indiana led and won by Kirkland lawyers.

In addition, Kirkland recently earned two awards for its commitment to LGBT equality. The International Gay and Lesbian Human Rights Commission honored the Firm with a Special Recognition Award for its LGBT rights work (see pg. 7), and litigation partner David Flugman was named to the National LGBT Bar Association's Best LGBT Lawyers Under 40 list (see “Attorney Spotlight”).

While we are proud of Kirkland’s numerous diversity achievements — many of which are detailed in this issue of Diversity Digest — we recognize that there is more work to do. We are dedicated to strengthening and expanding our Firm’s diversity efforts, and we welcome discussions about how we can continue to advance our goals.

Kirkland Named to The American Lawyer’s A-List

For the third year in a row, Kirkland has been named to The American Lawyer’s A-List. The A-List aims to identify the country’s most well-rounded law firms in terms of strong financial performance as well as firm culture, via measures of pro bono, diversity and midlevel associate satisfaction. The 20 top-scoring firms comprise the A-List.

Kirkland’s 2015 ranking improved 11 spots from last year to #5, the Firm’s highest ranking ever.

Attorney Spotlight

Kirkland litigation partner David Flugman’s practice covers various complex litigation, arbitration and advisory matters, including securities, shareholder and corporate disputes; contract, fraud, antitrust and other business tort disputes; putative class actions; and advisory work in the context of corporate and insolvency matters. This past year, he negotiated a settlement agreement with the Madoff Trustee in which his client obtained an allowed claim in the Madoff bankruptcy of more than $1.6 billion, one of the largest claims in the estate.

David is also dedicated to LGBT rights work. He recently argued in the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit and scored a major pro bono victory when that court upheld a New Jersey law prohibiting the state’s licensed therapists from practicing “reparative” or “gay conversion” therapy on minors. The Supreme Court denied certiorari in May 2015.

David is a member of the Firmwide Diversity Committee and LGBT Subcommittee, coordinator for the New York LGBT Affinity Group, ALLSA liaison to Harvard Law School Lambda and a member of the New York Recruiting Committee. He serves on the National Center for Lesbian Rights National Leadership Council and is involved with The Trevor Project, a LGBT youth suicide prevention organization.

The National LGBT Bar Association recently named David to its annual Best LGBT Lawyers Under 40 list, which recognizes LGBT attorneys who have distinguished themselves in their field and demonstrated a profound commitment to LGBT equality. “I’m thankful for Kirkland’s commitment to LGBT rights and for the valuable opportunities the Firm has given me to advance causes that I care deeply about,” David said.
